Nature Reserve

Ken McAuslan

Fauna Foundation's primary objective is to create a protected environment for neglected and abused farm animals and former biomedical research chimpanzees. Through education, we aim to foster a better understanding of all animals while exploring our ethical responsibility as humans for the well being of all earth's creatures.

In addition, Fauna's mission, we have a deeply felt concern for environmental issues, arising as much from shared and deeply-held beliefs as from the necessity to offer our Sanctuary residents a protected habitat in which they can thrive. This awareness has led to Fauna's sanctuary land being designated as a Natural Reserve by the Québec government, under the name Réserve Naturelle du Ruisseau-Robert. Our land management program strives, among other things, to increase local bird populations

Dear you who supports Fauna,

The year of 2021 was one of changes at Fauna as we learned to cope with the ever changing dynamics of the COVID pandemic. In 2020 we closed the intern, symposium, and volunteer programs. In 2021 we constantly re-evaluated the situation to determine what we could open back up. As you'll read, we offered what we could by harnessing the creativity, innovation, and flexibility of our staff and volunteers. Volunteers worked in the barn. Outreach pivoted to online formats. Our ultimate goal was that the residents of Fauna continue to have excellence in care. We couldn't have made it through the year without your support. Thank you for being there for us.

This annual report is in a new format. Up until now we have always mailed out glossy printed reports. This year we are trying something new which we hope can bring you closer to the lives of our residents and the mission of our programs. You'll find clickable links throughout that take you to videos, research posters, and podcasts. We hope you're able to spend time and enjoy this new format. Feel free to send us feedback to info@faunafoundation.org.

Resident Highlights

When we look back on 2021, we began the year losing Dolly to heart disease. The rest of the year was quiet and stable despite the waves of COVID around us (see update on COVID below).

With our geriatric population, health is always a concern. Our dedicated Assistant Vet Tech, Sharon Kemp, works tirelessly to spend time each day with each resident. She writes weekly summaries on health and training. Each day we receive a report on each individual that is completed by caregivers. This ensures each resident receives the best of care.

At this time of this writing we are well through 2022 a year which brought the loss of Chance and Darla. For each loss there are social adjustments, but our residents are amazing in their strength and resilience.

Finnegan and the 8 domestic geese are the remaining farm animals at Fauna. The geese interact with the wild Canadian geese, sometimes adopting a family of wild geese in the summer.

With an online annual report readers can see for themselves some of the fun times from the chimp house and the rest of Fauna. Click on the highlighted words below to see the videos.

- » Rachel is shown foraging in the snow from the warmth of the chimphouse.
- » Maya enjoys coloring.
- » In this video Rachel is using the hose to clean a hamper. This is something she sees her caregivers doing each day.
- » Tatu and Binky love looking at magazines. Here you see Tatu flipping through pages and in the end stopping at a picture she seems to particularly enjoy.
- » Check out this video of the geese in the snow!

Covid Update

Fauna Foundation this year has continued strict measures to ensure the chimpanzees and monkeys have remained healthy and safe from COVID exposure. Essential to this success is ensuring the chimpanzees are not exposed to the virus through caregivers. Of cases globally in which zoo-living apes and big cats have contracted COVID, it was from caregivers. We have maintained our COVID protocols which include adjustments in caregiver practices to protect the residents and staff, many obvious such as face masks, gloves, daily temperature and symptom checks, and requiring individuals in the chimphouse to be fully vaccinated. We maintain strict limits on people who come to Fauna Foundation. Our public programs have remained cancelled and our volunteer program is only open on a very limited basis and only to individuals who are fully vaccinated. This year we hosted two summer interns who also agreed to our strict COVID protocols.

Fauna Foundation is a NAPSA member sanctuary, which provides excellent resources in best practices to protect captive chimpanzees from COVID. It has been particularly useful to have this resource in a landscape of rapidly changing protocols and procedures. Our other resources include a public health nurse, our veterinarian, and best practices from the CDC and the Quebec government. We are a GFAS accredited sanctuary which allowed us to attend some webinars featuring veterinarians and managers with first-hand knowledge of the COVID situation in zoo and sanctuary settings.

Our caregivers are essential to maintaining the health of the chimpanzees. Not only do they need to make these COVID adjustments while at work, they also must ensure they are including safe practices such as social distancing and avoiding crowds outside of work in their personal lives. Our staff are highly dedicated and we credit much of our success to their commitment to these safe practices.

Education & Outreach

Since people couldn't come to Fauna we went to them virtually. We delivered Zoom presentations to classes and groups in Quebec and the US:

- » You can see the agenda for the Roundtable Discussion on What Animals Teach Us About Themselves at the Animal Law Conference on October 15, 2021.
- » We presented via Zoom to the Regroupement des Amblyopes du Montréal Métropolitain (RAAMM) on May 19, 2021.
- » We presented via Zoom to an Anthropology class at College Ahuntsic Montreal on April 21, 2021.
- » We made two Zoom presentations to an Ontario group, the Summer Lecture Series. (2021, May 19 & June 21).
- » We also made two Zoom presentations to the Guelph Wellington Men's Club. (2021, February 2 & March 2).

Research publications and presentations

This publication co-authored by Fauna's Mary Lee Jensvold studied ways to make zoo visitors more friendly toward chimpanzees. Zager, L. N., & Jensvold, M. L. A. (2021). Signs and docents in zoo visitor education: Using affiliative chimpanzee (Pan troglodytes) behaviors. Animal Behavior and Cognition, 8(4), 589-600.

Virtual conferences were a way to stay COVID safe while still sharing research findings. Collins, E. & Jensvold, M.L. (2021, March). Communicative Function in the Utterances in Two Signing Chimpanzees. Poster presentation at University of Indiana Animal Behavior Conference. March 26. The findings in this study are well explained in a blog post by co-author, Emily Collins.

Online Summer Class

In Summer 2021 Fauna in collaboration with Friends of Washoe offered an online course on Chimpanzee Behavior. This online course explored the science of understanding chimpanzee behavior and its application to improve conditions in captivity. Topics included fundamentals of chimpanzee natural history and behavior, elements of chimpanzee behavior and contexts, communication and sign language studies, environmental enrichment, diet, husbandry protocols in sanctuary settings, ethics, and use in research. It used live online Zoom presentation and a web portal with resources. The Zoom presentations included Fauna caregivers and Dr. Capaldo. We uploaded the Zoom presentations and these were available for later viewing.

This was highly successful with 22 students. One student's review said it was the best online course they'd ever taken. Additionally this program generated much needed funds with the loss of onsite programming.

Internships

We were unable to offer the in-person in program in 2021. We offered virtual internships to five students at University of Montreal, Concordia University, University of Windsor and Vanier College. Interns assisted with a variety of projects including updating the releasechimps.org website, sign language studies, and chimpanzee gestures.

Advocacy

We work with NAPSA on campaigns to end “monkey rodeos.” These are inhumane “shows” at various events such as baseball games and carnivals in which monkeys ride on dogs. It is shocking how prevalent this practice is.

The IUNC developed new best practices for imagery of human primate interactions. It includes humans being safe distance, appropriate barriers, and wearing PPE when pictured around nonhuman primates. Fauna adopted those practices.

“Our task must be to free ourselves... by widening our circle of compassion to embrace all living creatures and the whole of nature and it’s beauty.”

—Albert Einstein

Volunteer Program

Yet again our volunteer program was tested by COVID this year. Towards the end of 2020 we had an interruption in our volunteer program due to the restrictions growing in our province. Luckily by 2021 we were able to slowly re-open our program to a group of core volunteers. Through the spring and summer months more volunteers came back, fully vaccinated, and ready to follow a slew of COVID guidelines in order to help us with our volunteering needs. Some volunteers worked remotely helping us with translation projects and other office tasks. We couldn't have translated our website without their help! Finally, we were able to let volunteers re-enter into the Chimphouse. Following a strict set of COVID guidelines much needed help was returned to the building!

Patton Family Volunteer Day

On Saturday October 23, 2021 the Patton family along with long-time volunteer Pauline Parent aided Ken, our arborist, in an outdoor mulching project. They were able to mulch all the larch trees around the Memorial Garden, as well as the trees lining the road to the new barn on the far side of Bellerive. Together they mulched over 500 trees! This is a labour intensive project that is essential every fall at Fauna. We are so grateful that this family was able to help us reach our goals.

Website

Our website continued to be active. Behind the scenes of it we added features to allow us to offer the Chimpanzee Behaviour class. We have a new web master and have added features that increase the speed of the page.

E-news

We made regular email updates to those who sign up for our newsletter. This is the main way our supporters can stay informed about the residents of Fauna. While we keep social media content lively, the most important updates on the residents comes through email. Our e-news continues to be the best way to stay in touch with the most current information about our residents. We alert subscribers to blog posts and fundraisers. In 2021 we featured recipes from the chimhouse including Curry Tofu, Veggie Lasagna, and Vegan Cheesecake. You can check them out now by clicking on the word. To subscribe please sign up.

Blog

We made regular blog posts on topics including a series on environmental enrichment, a series on relationships between the chimpanzees and caregivers, an intern blog on sign language studies with the chimpanzees, and the quarterly conservation report which always contains beautiful images of the wildlife at Fauna.

Tree Program Report for 2021

BY KEN MCAUSLAN

Fauna's tree program has been ongoing in a concerted way for the past 8 years and prior to that intermittently for the almost 20 years. In the past 8 years we have planted over 1,400 trees, 90% of which were grown from seed on site and we have now catalogued over 160 species of trees on Fauna land, both native and exotic. We now find we have achieved many of the goals we set out to accomplish and we have no other physical areas to develop. Our last project is this fall. We will create an arboretum in a 1 ½ acre field bordering the north side of Bellerive and randomly plant Ironwood seedlings within existing wooded areas. This fall we will see the end of our propagation and planting program. Going forward our program will revolve around maintenance of the plantings that we have created to this point which of and by itself will occupy much of my time. Henceforth we will watch nature take its course and follow the growth of these beautiful plants in the understanding that trees are never planted for ourselves but rather for the wonder and fascination of future generations.

// The best time to plant a tree was 20 years ago. The second best time is now."

Snapping Turtle

Ruisseau Robert Nature Conservancy Update

BY JUSTIN TAUS

As our wildlife survey progressed through its fifth year in 2021, several interesting discoveries were made and new species observed. In retrospect, 2021 served as a great example of how the presence and/or abundance of a particular species in a specific location can vary greatly from year to year, depending on factors like weather and food availability.

The winter months saw an irruption of certain bird species in southern Quebec. An irruption year occurs when food sources are limited throughout a species' habitual range, forcing them to move into other regions in large numbers to feed themselves. We were therefore able to observe White-winged Crossbills and Pine Grosbeaks for the first time, as well as large numbers of Common Redpolls, which all came to feed on various types of seeds.

In the spring there was an unusual abundance of Gypsy Moth caterpillars in the area, which attracted Black-billed Cuckoos, a species that feeds primarily on caterpillars at certain times of the year. A little later, once the caterpillars developed into moths, Scarlet Tanagers arrived to fill their stomachs with the insects.

In addition to the species mentioned above, other birds that were observed for the first time in 2021 are the Ring-necked Duck, Northern Rough-winged Swallow, Fox Sparrow, Bufflehead, Bohemian Waxwing, Great Horned Owl and the Long-eared Owl.

As usual, our conservancy's various habitats were particularly busy during the breeding season. We were delighted to discover Green Herons and American Black Ducks nesting at the reserve for the first time. Like in previous years, our nest boxes were predominantly occupied by Tree Swallows, and dozens of Barn Swallows nested in our barns. Several dozen Bobolink, a species listed as threatened by the Committee on the Status of Endangered Wildlife in Canada (COSEWIC) successfully nested in our fields once again.

2021 definitely highlighted nature's unpredictability and the fact that, even after five years of intensive monitoring, there is always a chance to spot something new when you're out exploring at the nature reserve!
